

Senior Applications Analyst
Parliamentary Digital Service
12 month FTC, until 31 March 2018 (with possibility of extension or permanency)
From £36,500 to £42,932

Support the systems underpinning a digital Parliament.

The Parliamentary Digital Service is transforming the way Parliament does digital. We're responsible for the entire digital strategy, including development of all parliamentary platforms from intranet services to a brand new website.

We're looking for a highly skilled Senior Application Analyst to join our Live Services directorate; you'll be joining a close knit team specifically catered towards supporting and updating a range of business critical applications, which underpin the day to day functioning of both houses.

You'll need to be adept at building strong relationships as you will be working closely with business partners to deliver continual improvements in an agile way. You'll play a role in ensuring that reporting from the system is accurate and fit for purpose, while adapting process to the reporting requirements of Parliament.

There's also a wider support aspect to the role; you'll be one of the escalation points for incidents, coordinate automated testing and provide UAT and post-live support. If you'd like to be an important cog in our team, supporting thousands of users across Parliament then we'd love to hear from you!

We're an open, transparent and collaborative team at the heart of Westminster. If you'd like to join us in developing a modern digital democracy, find out more here.
