You will be aware of the significant public concern around the impact of plastic pollution on our environment. My Committee’s inquiry into disposable packaging highlighted that the 700,000 plastic bottles are littered in the UK every day. Plastic bottles are one of many plastic products that can end up in our seas, where they break down into harmful microplastics.

Single-use plastics are often used as a matter of course at entertainment and sporting venues. I warmly welcome the Premier League’s recent commitment to phase out the use of single-use plastics on their premises as an important step towards more environmentally responsible use of plastic. I would like to know whether you are considering similar action to reduce single-use plastics in football clubs across the English Football League? For example, have you considered introducing a deposit return schemes on plastic bottles? I believe there is an amazing opportunity for football clubs across the country to mobilise the power of sport to help people make the shift away from single-use plastics. I am writing in similar terms to the chairs of the Scottish, Welsh and Northern Irish Football Leagues.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Creagh MP
Chair of the Environmental Audit Committee
Mr Murdoch MacLennon,
Chair
The Scottish Professional Football League
Hampden Park
Glasgow
G42 9DE

23rd May 2018

Dear Mr. MacLennon,

You will be aware of the significant public concern around the impact of plastic pollution on our environment. My Committee’s inquiry into disposable packaging highlighted that the 700,000 plastic bottles are littered in the UK every day. Plastic bottles are one of many plastic products that can end up in our seas, where they break down into harmful microplastics.

Single-use plastics are often used as a matter of course at entertainment and sporting venues. I warmly welcome the English Premier League’s recent commitment to phase out the use of single-use plastics on their premises as an important step towards more environmentally responsible use of plastic. I would like to know whether you are considering similar action to reduce single-use plastics in football clubs across the Scottish Football League? For example, have you considered introducing a deposit return schemes on plastic bottles? I believe there is an amazing opportunity for football clubs across the country to mobilise the power of sport to help people make the shift away from single-use plastics. I am writing in similar terms to the chairs of the English, Welsh and Northern Irish Football Leagues.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Creagh MP
Chair of the Environmental Audit Committee
Mr Andrew Johnston
Managing Director of the Northern Irish Football League
Mervyn Brown Suite
The National Stadium at Windsor Park
Belfast
BT12 6LW

23rd May 2018

Dear Mr Johnston,

You will be aware of the significant public concern around the impact of plastic pollution on our environment. My Committee’s inquiry into disposable packaging highlighted that the 700,000 plastic bottles are littered in the UK every day. Plastic bottles are one of many plastic products that can end up in our seas, where they break down into harmful microplastics.

Single-use plastics are often used as a matter of course at entertainment and sporting venues. I warmly welcome the English Premier League’s recent commitment to phase out the use of single-use plastics on their premises as an important step towards more environmentally responsible use of plastic. I would like to know whether you are considering similar action to reduce single-use plastics in football clubs across the Northern Irish Football League? For example, have you considered introducing a deposit return schemes on plastic bottles? I believe there is an amazing opportunity for football clubs across the country to mobilise the power of sport to help people make the shift away from single-use plastics. I am writing in similar terms to the chairs of the English, Scottish, and Welsh Football Leagues.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Creagh MP
Chair of the Environmental Audit Committee
You will be aware of the significant public concern around the impact of plastic pollution on our environment. My Committee’s inquiry into disposable packaging highlighted that the 700,000 plastic bottles are littered in the UK every day. Plastic bottles are one of many plastic products that can end up in our seas, where they break down into harmful microplastics.

Single-use plastics are often used as a matter of course at entertainment and sporting venues. I warmly welcome the English Premier League’s recent commitment to phase out the use of single-use plastics on their premises as an important step towards more environmentally responsible use of plastic. I would like to know whether you are considering similar action to reduce single-use plastics in football clubs across the Welsh Football League? For example, have you considered introducing a deposit return schemes on plastic bottles? I believe there is an amazing opportunity for football clubs across the country to mobilise the power of sport to help people make the shift away from single-use plastics. I am writing in similar terms to the chairs of the English, Scottish and Northern Irish Football Leagues.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Creagh MP
Chair of the Environmental Audit Committee
You will be aware of the significant public concern around the impact of plastic pollution on our environment. My Committee's inquiry into disposable packaging highlighted that the 700,000 plastic bottles are littered in the UK every day. Plastic bottles are one of many plastic products that can end up in our seas, where they break down into harmful microplastics.

Single-use plastics are often used as a matter of course at entertainment and sporting venues. I warmly welcome the English Premier League's recent commitment to phase out the use of single-use plastics on their premises as an important step towards more environmentally responsible use of plastic. I would like to know whether you are considering similar action to reduce single-use plastics in football clubs across the Northern Irish Football League? For example, have you considered introducing a deposit return schemes on plastic bottles? I believe there is an amazing opportunity for football clubs across the country to mobilise the power of sport to help people make the shift away from single-use plastics. I am writing in similar terms to the chairs of the English, Scottish, and Welsh Football Leagues.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Creagh MP
Chair of the Environmental Audit Committee