

House of Lords – Financial Assistance to Opposition Parties 1 April 2011 – 31 March 2012

A scheme for providing financial assistance to the Opposition and second largest opposition party in the House of Lords to assist them in carrying out their Parliamentary business was introduced in October 1996. This was extended to cover the Convenor of Crossbench Peers in October 1999. Under the scheme, the parties and Convenor are responsible for ensuring that the expenses claimed are exclusively in relation to their Parliamentary business. At the end of each financial year they provide a certificate from an independent professional auditor to confirm this.

There is only one opposition party in the Parliament following the general election in April 2010.

The maximum amounts payable are uprated annually in line with the retail price index.

	Total Payments Made
Official Opposition – Labour	£512,701
Convenor of the Cross-Bench Peers	£64,579
