IFS pre-Spring Budget 2017 Briefing: Providing Some Context

Date: Wednesday 1 March 2017, 12:00 - 1:00
Location: Attlee Suite, Portcullis House

The Institute for Fiscal Studies, the Parliamentary Office of Science and Technology, and the House of Commons Library invite you to attend a pre-Spring Budget Briefing on Wednesday 1 March, 2017.

IFS Director Paul Johnson will present the Institute's latest assessment of the public finances and will provide some context for Chancellor Philip Hammond's Spring Budget, which will be delivered to Parliament on 8 March.

Paul will also outline some of the tax and spending options and challenges facing the Chancellor, bearing in mind current economic uncertainties. The talk is informed by IFS work on the Green Budget (www.ifs.org.uk/publications/8825).

This event is open to MPs, peers, members' staff and house staff.

Please register on Eventbrite with the password provided in your invitation.
